

Jesus calls and empowers us to share the gospel, His good news of salvation.

We have been sent by the King.

Sharing the message of Jesus requires complete dependance on the Holy Spirit

Sharing the message of Jesus requires complete dependance on the Holy Spirit

- We are not responsible for who accepts the message of salvation, but we are responsible for sharing it

Sharing the message of Jesus requires complete dependance on the Holy Spirit

- We are not responsible for who accepts the message of salvation, but we are responsible for sharing it
- As disciples, we are to be both shrewd and innocent

- We are to fear God over people
- Pray for complete boldness

Great revelation requires a response and bears great responsibility

Great revelation requires a response and bears great responsibility

- The gospel is divisive and requires a decision

Doubt does not mean unbelief but a greater need for faith

Doubt does not mean unbelief but a greater need for faith

- Counter doubt with Scripture and submission

Doubt does not mean unbelief but a greater need for faith

- Counter doubt with Scripture and submission
- Rehearse the truths of God to yourself

Doubt does not mean unbelief but a greater need for faith

- Counter doubt with Scripture and submission
- Rehearse the truths of God to yourself
- Remember the cost of not following Jesus is exponentially greater than the cost of following Jesus

Jesus invites us to come to Him and promises rest for our souls as we learn to align our hearts with Him as we abide in Him
